CRESSE Lawyers' Course Testimonies

"On behalf of the Competition Council of Moldova and of myself personally, I would like to express our sincere gratitude for the recent opportunity provided to the Competition Council's specialists to attend the "Lawyers' Course" and "Summer School" organized by the Competition & Regulation European Summer School and Conference in June and July 2023. The Competition Council's team have highly appreciated the level of expertise and professionalism of the experts involved, extensive variety and depth of the topics covered and the quality of presentations.."

Alexei Ghertescu
President of the Competition Council of Moldova

"Thank you once more on behalf of the SA Competition Commission for an intellectually stimulating conference and authentic Greek experience. Thank you too for putting together a faculty that has challenged and advanced our staff in the courses. We hope to see you soon, hopefully in SA".

James Hodge
Chief Economist, Chair of MDPMI, Acting Deputy Commissioner
CRESSE 2026

"Very inviting atmosphere, professional and relevant lectures with very impressive lecturers. I really enjoyed discussing and hanging out with other participants from vastly different countries and cultures. Excellent food at the conference hotel (lunch). Also very good organization from you and the rest of the people involved. The conference dinner was a blast".

"I had a wonderful experience attending the CRESSE Lawyers' Course in Kos, Greece. The program provided robust training in economic analysis, covering both fundamental economic principles and their practical application to real-world competition law enforcement and litigation. Beyond the highly enriching academic experience, I also enjoyed the scenic beauty of the island and had the opportunity to meet and connect with practitioners from different jurisdictions. The course offered a unique blend of learning, professional collaboration, and cultural exchange, making it a truly worthwhile endeavor. Thank you CRESSE, for such an exceptional experience."

"Participating in the CRESSE 2026 Lawyers' Course" in Kos, Greece offered me intensive cross-disciplinary training bridging economics and competition law.It enabled me to grasp the practical value of economic frameworks such as the hypothetical monopolist test, upward pricing pressure analysis and error-cost framework in competition-law casework. Exposed to diverse substantive standards including the protection of competitive process, consumer welfare and total welfare, I developed a more global perspective on antitrust enforcement across different jurisdictions. Discussions around AI-related competition challenges further inspired my reflections on emerging digital-market competition issues".

"This was a wonderful course. It allowed me to take a step backwards and really build up my understanding of economics from scratch. A very helpful refresher. The course was super well organised and the teaching faculty was thoroughly engaging and really brought the subject to life. A delightful four days and I would highly recommend the course to anyone who takes an interest in the economics of competition law. "

LAWYERS' COURSE 2025

"It was a great honor to participate in the 2025 CRESSE Lawyers' Course. This program provided me with a solid foundation in key principles of economics and competition law, while also fostering a more integrated understanding of the interplay between economic law and economics. Such insights have established a robust foundation for my future legal practice, especially in the areas of competition law research and application. Covering a broad spectrum of subjects with well-calibrated complexity, the course was closely aligned with cutting-edge research in economics and legal studies, such as the digital economy. The instructors presented the material with remarkable clarity, depth, and intellectual rigor, enriched by engaging and often humorous delivery. The experience proved to be immensely valuable!"

LAWYERS' COURSE 2025

"The four-day "Lawyer's Course" in Crete was an unforgettable experience that blended learning with the beauty of nature. I had the opportunity to learn from outstanding economics scholars from all over the world, across different fields and institutions, something I would not have been exposed to in a single university. They explained the intersection of economic theory and competition law in an accessible way, which benefited me greatly. For example, they introduced concepts like supply and demand, offering me a first step into the world of economics. Through "game theory," they analyzed strategic interactions between firms and so on. These vivid and inspiring examples significantly broadened my understanding of the economic dimensions of competition law. At the same time, the course was held on the beautiful island of Crete, whose stunning scenery added tranquil touch to the learning journey. By the blue Aegean Sea, the clear waters and golden sandy beaches under the sunset provided the perfect setting for both reflection and relaxation.
I am very grateful to CRESSE for providing this opportunity and allowing me to have such a memorable experience. I would also like to extend my sincere thanks to you for the kind invitation and invaluable assistance throughout the entire process. I truly hope we have the opportunity to meet again next year.

LAWYERS' COURSE 2023

Attending the Lawyers' Course proved to be a particularly rewarding experience. I had the remarkable opportunity to enrich my understanding of antitrust economics with some of the best experts in the field. Moreover, I had the chance to interact and share expertise with fellow attendees from other Competition Authorities. The speakers combined a mix of experts from academia and practice, offering a complete, balanced and interesting approach to the subject of the Course. I expect that the knowledge acquired will be very useful in our work at the Hellenic Competition Commission and have already recommended the Course my colleagues. Everyone involved with the organization was extremely friendly, helpful and efficient, while the location was beautiful.

"We extend our sincere thanks to you for the idea and organisation of the Lawyers Week we attended. We found the course on "The Role of Economics in Competition Law and Practice" extremely interesting and helpful for competition law practitioners. The quality of the lecturers exceeded all expectations. A combination of teaching skills and the enthusiasm of academics with practical experience in applying economics in a competition law environment helped in understanding issues that are sometimes very difficult for lawyers.
Needless to say, the event greatly promoted Corfu as a summer destination for travellers.
Thank you and best regards"

Malgorzata Szwaj

"I would like to thank you one more time for the great time we had during Lawyer's Week both in terms of academic and social experience."

Anna Laszczyk
Junior Associate, Linklaters, Warsaw (Poland)

Overview -Objectives

The objective of the course, organized for the thirteenth time in 2027, is to introduce the economic theories that underlie competition law, the methods and tools that are used to assess whether business practices are socially harmful or benign and the economic issues related to the enforcement of the law. The philosophy of the course is to enable participating lawyers to communicate effectively with economists when they have to cooperate with them in cases and to read their opinions in an informed manner. It is designed to provide students with a comprehensive understanding of economic concepts and theories and of how they are applied to competition policy and a solid grounding in the tools and methods used in the examination of specific cases.

The course is taught by some of the foremost competition economists in the world. It covers both an introduction to microeconomics, game theory and industrial organisation theory, as well as all the areas in the application of economics to competition policy. The latter includes the analysis of market power, market definition, cartels and other coordinated behaviour, abusive unilateral conduct by dominant firms (all exclusionary practices), vertical restraints, horizontal and vertical mergers, antitrust and intellectual property, issues related to the evaluation of damages in competition cases and the assessment of fines and issues related to the assessment of economic evidence in courts.

Who is the course for?

The course is targeted at lawyers practicing in competition law as counsels, enforcers or judges or in another field of law in which knowledge of economics is helpful. As such, the course does not require students to have any prior knowledge of economics or quantitative techniques. Lectures rely on verbal descriptions and graphs to convey key concepts. Special emphasis is given on case examples in order to review and apply the economic principles and methods.

There are no formal entry requirements but the course is designed for legal practitioners looking to gain a rigorous introduction to the increasingly important role that economics plays in the enforcement of competition law and market regulation. Applicants will be asked to fill in an Application Form, demonstrating their suitability for the course, including a short personal statement that indicates what they hope to achieve from attending it.

Key Benefits

- Gives an extensive in-depth insight into the economics needed for competition law cases.
- Program material is written by experts – some of the foremost experts in the world in competition economics.
- Each participant will receive a signed Certificate of Attendance, which includes details for the Sessions attended, their duration and the instructors that were involved in the teaching of each session. The Certificate of Attendance is sent to each participant at about the end of November provided that they have completed the online evaluation form for each session they attended (the evaluation form does not take more than 3 mins to complete and will be sent to you in due course).
- The course gives the opportunity to participants to obtain within just four days an extensive introduction to the economics that underline the assessment of competition law cases, in beautiful surroundings.

Structure – Duration (2027 Lawyers' Course)

The 2027 CRESSE Course on the Role of Economics in Competition Law and Practice will run for 4 days. The teaching method is by two-hour sessions.

In total, the Course consists of 16 sessions or 32 academic hours (1 academic hour = 50 minutes).

A Special Keynote Lecture by Prof. Niamh Dunne (London School of Economics) will also take place during the Course.

VENUE

MINOA PALACE RESORT, Chania, Crete.

Accommodation

Participation in the course includes 5-night accommodation mainly in 4* or in a 3* hotel close to the CRESSE Venue, with the hotel selection made by CRESSE. Every effort is made to secure at least 4* hotels for all applicants that register reasonably early – by mid-May 2027. We try to book at least 4* hotels for all participants but cannot guarantee this for very late applicants. (Rooms are double for single use. Small extra charge for double use.)

Rooms are provided on a first come-first served basis, so early registration and booking arrangements are highly recommended.

Kindly note that other transportation costs (e.g. airplane tickets) are not inclusive of participation fees and participants are responsible for their transportation arrangements.
Participation in the course also covers transportation from the hotel of stay to the CRESSE Venue and return.

Important note for PhD students who have received the CRESSE grant: Kindly note that the grant does not cover any transportation or accommodation expenses.
